AIMS builds audio-based AI search for the music industry. It analyzes sound, visuals and lyrics, helping music professionals search 100 percent of their catalog and find the right track up to 10x faster.

Originally adopted by leading production music companies including Warner Chappell PM, Universal PM and Extreme Music, AIMS is now also used by record labels and music publishers such as Big Machine Label Group and Anthem Entertainment.

AIMS' mission is simple: to set the standard for intelligent and fair music search.
